

The History of Aldrich & Sigma-Aldrich, with

Advice to Young Scientists

11 A.M., Thursday
October 5th, 2006

Lipsett Amphitheater,
NIH Clinical Center, Building 10

National Institutes of Health
U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

Dr. Alfred Bader

Founder, Aldrich Chemical, co-founder, Sigma-Aldrich

Dr. Alfred Bader co-founded what is now one of the world's largest suppliers of chemicals for research. His efforts significantly contributed to biomedical advances, by disseminating chemical innovations and by saving investigators hours of preparatory work. Come hear advice and lessons learned from this noted scientist, entrepreneur, and art collector.

Sponsored by the Office of NIH History and the American Chemical Society

For reasonable accommodations please contact: baderlecture@nih.gov. Sign language interpreters can be provided. Please call the Federal Relay Service five days ahead at 1-800-877-8339 (Voice/TTY/ASCII/Spanish).

Prussian Blue, by Thomas Phillips, 1816, in the collection of Alfred Bader Fine Arts